

Hue University of Science is one of the leading training and research institutions in the Central and Central Highlands regions. Established in 1957, the school has a long tradition in teaching natural sciences, social sciences and humanities. With a team of experienced lecturers, modern facilities and a dynamic learning environment, Hue University of Science is always a prestigious choice for domestic and foreign students. The school is currently located at 77 Nguyen Hue, Hue City - a major cultural and educational center of the country.